

Contents

1	The Journey to Our System of Negotiations	1
1.1	What Is the Focus of the Procurement Negotiation: Process or Person?	2
1.2	Why Stress in Negotiations Does Lead to Suboptimal Results	4
1.3	Abstracting from the Persons Involved in Negotiations	5
1.4	What Game Theory Can Contribute to Successful Negotiations	6
1.5	Our “System of Negotiations”: A Combination of Game Theory, Behavioral Economics, Data Science and Practical Experience	7
1.6	The Structure of the Book	9
	References	10
2	Negotiations in Procurement with Competition	11
2.1	Serious and Common Mistakes in Conventional Procurement Negotiations	11
2.2	Case Study: The Benefits of a Well-Structured Competitive Negotiation Process	19
2.3	BATNA: The Best Alternative If the Negotiation Fails	23
2.4	The Game-Theoretically Optimized Negotiation Process	26
2.5	Analysis of the Market Situation	30
2.6	Bundling Products and Services to Increase Competition	34
2.7	Establishing Comparability	39
2.8	Entrepreneurial Assessment of Cost Components	47
2.9	Hedging against Price Renegotiations	49
2.10	Negotiation Design	52

2.11	Commitment, Supplier Communication and Awarding of Contracts.	60
2.12	Case Study: Extortionate Pricing of Suppliers.	68
2.13	Lessons Learned.	71
	References	73
3	Negotiations with Monopolists	75
3.1	First Check Whether the Supplier Really Has a Monopoly.	75
3.2	Identification of Consequences	80
3.3	Negotiation Options and Their Monetization	83
3.4	Need for a Negotiation Mandate	87
3.5	Essential: The Incentive-Optimized Storyline	91
3.6	Storytelling and Negotiation Roadmap	95
3.7	Allocation of Roles in the Negotiation Process	101
3.8	Special Case: Bilateral Negotiations with Alternatives	103
3.9	Case Study: Negotiation with a Monopolist in the Transport Sector.	106
3.10	Lessons Learned.	110
	References	111
4	Negotiating: The Perspectives	113
4.1	Some General Rules of Conduct	113
4.2	Further Areas of Application of the System of Negotiation.	115
4.3	The Opportunities of Digitisation	119
4.4	Negotiation: From Intuition to Science	123
	References	124
	Glossary	125