

Contents

|                                                                                                                             |           |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| Modeling Acoustic Streaming On A Vibrating Particle .....                                                            | 1  |
| Rajai S. Alassar                                                                                                            |           |
| Performance of Stabilized Higher-Order Methodsfor Nonstationary Convection-Diffusion-Reaction Equations.....    | 11 |
| Markus Bause                                                                                                                |           |
| Numerical Approximation of Convection-Diffusion ProblemsThrough the PSI Method and Characteristics Method ..... | 21 |
| M. Benítez García, T. Chacón Rebollo, M. Gómez Mármol,and G. Narbona-Reina                                              |           |
| On Novel Properties of Multimode Boundary Conditionsin Electromagnetism and Their Consequences .....            | 29 |
| J.M.L. Bernard                                                                                                              |           |
| Uniform Quadratic Convergence of Monotone Iteratesfor Semilinear Singularly Perturbed Elliptic Problems.....    | 37 |
| Igor Boglaev                                                                                                                |           |
| Finite Element Discretizations of Optimal Control FlowProblems with Boundary Layers .....                       | 47 |
| M. Braack and B. Tews                                                                                                       |           |
| Asymptotic Behavior of a Viscous FluidNear a Rough Boundary .....                                               | 57 |
| J. Casado-Díaz, M. Luna-Laynez, and F.J. Suárez-Grau                                                                        |           |
| High Reynolds Channel Flows: Upstream Interactionof Various Wall Deformations .....                             | 65 |
| P. Cathalifaud, M. Zagzoule, J. Cousteix, and J. Mauss                                                                      |           |

|                                                                                                                                                                              |            |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| Uniformly Convergent Finite Difference Schemesfor Singularly Perturbed 1D ParabolicReaction–Diffusion Problems .....                                        | 75  |
| C. Clavero and J.L. Gracia                                                                                                                                                   |            |
| Finite Element Approximation of the Convection-DiffusionEquation: Subgrid-Scale Spaces, Local Instabilitiesand Anisotropic Space-Time Discretizations ..... | 85  |
| Ramon Codina                                                                                                                                                                 |            |
| A Two-Weight Scheme for a Time-DependentAdvection-Diffusion Problem .....                                                                                        | 99  |
| Naresh M. Chadha and Niall Madden                                                                                                                                            |            |
| Error Estimates for a Mixed Hybridized Finite VolumeMethod for 2nd Order Elliptic Problems .....                                                                 | 109 |
| Carlo de Falco and Riccardo Sacco                                                                                                                                            |            |
| On the Choice of Mesh for a Singularly Perturbed Problemwith a Corner Singularity .....                                                                          | 119 |
| Sebastian Franz, R. Bruce Kellogg, and Martin Stynes                                                                                                                         |            |
| Local Projection Stabilisation on Layer-Adapted Meshesfor Convection-Diffusion Problems with Characteristic Layers(Part I and II) .....                     | 127 |
| Sebastian Franz and Gunar Matthies                                                                                                                                           |            |
| A Singularly Perturbed Convection Diffusion ParabolicProblem with an Interior Layer .....                                                                        | 139 |
| J.L. Gracia and E. O’Riordan                                                                                                                                                 |            |
| Mesh Adaptivity Using VMS Error Estimators:Application to the Transport Equation .....                                                                           | 147 |
| G. Hauke, M.H. Doweidar, and S. Fuentes                                                                                                                                      |            |
| Numerical Simulation of Turbulent Incompressibleand Compressible Flows Over Rough Walls .....                                                                    | 157 |
| Petr Louda, Jaromír Přihoda, and Karel Kozel                                                                                                                                 |            |
| A Projection-Based Variational Multiscale Methodfor the Incompressible Navier–Stokes/Fourier Model .....                                                         | 167 |
| Johannes Löwe, Gert Lube, and Lars Röhe                                                                                                                                      |            |

|                                                                                                                                          |            |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| Improved Mathematical and Numerical Modellingof Dispersion of a Solute from a Continuous Source .....                        | 177 |
| Niall Madden and Kajal Kumar Mondal                                                                                                      |            |
| Numerical Method for a Nonlinear Singularly PerturbedInterior Layer Problem.....                                             | 187 |
| E. O’Riordan and J. Quinn                                                                                                                |            |
| Large-Eddy Simulation of Wall-Bounded Turbulent Flows:Layer-Adapted Meshes vs. Weak Dirichlet BoundaryConditions.....   | 197 |
| Lars Röhe and Gert Lube                                                                                                                  |            |
| Improved Scheme on Adapted Locally-Uniform Meshesfor a Singularly Perturbed Parabolic Convection-DiffusionProblem ..... | 207 |
| G.I. Shishkin                                                                                                                            |            |
| Flux Difference Schemes for Parabolic Reaction-DiffusionEquations with Discontinuous Data .....                              | 217 |
| L.P. Shishkina and G.I. Shishkin                                                                                                         |            |
| Numerical Approximation of Flow Induced Vibration of VocalFolds .....                                                        | 227 |
| P. Sváček and J. Horáček                                                                                                                 |            |
| Fundamental Properties of the Solution of a SingularlyPerturbed Degenerate Parabolic Problem .....                           | 235 |
| Martin Viscor and Martin Stynes                                                                                                          |            |
| High Reynolds Channel Flows: Variable Curvature .....                                                                             | 245 |
| M. Zagzoule, P. Cathalifaud, J. Cousteix, and J. Mauss                                                                                   |            |