Contents

Part I Introducing the Problem

1 Introduction 3
1.1 Background 3
1.1.1 Reconciliation as Strategy to Overcome Apartheid Divisions 3
1.1.2 One-Sided Integration in Churches Seeking Reconciliation 5
1.1.3 The Domination through Language and Worldview ... 7
1.1.4 Enhancing Reconciliation through Decolonial Perspectives 8
1.1.5 The Central Role of White People for Reconciliation Processes in Contexts of Coloniality 10
1.2 Research Aims and Questions 11
1.3 An Overview of Research Design and Methodology 12
1.4 Delimitations and Research Scope 14
1.5 Contribution 16
1.6 Outline of Chapters 16
1.7 About the Author 19

2 Theoretical Framework 21
2.1 Reconciliation 21
2.1.1 Key aspects of Reconciliation Theory 22
2.1.2 Du Toit's Reconciliation-as-Interdependence 24
2.1.3 Social Restoration vs an Agonistic Approach to Reconciliation 26

Bibliografische Informationen
https://d-nb.info/1284726568

digitalisiert durch DEUTSCHE NATIONAL BIBLIOTHEK

2.1.4 Transformation as an Essential Element of Reconciliation 28
2.2 Speaking of Social Identities 29
2.2.1 The Concepts of Languaculture and Cultural Conceptualisations 30
2.2.2 My use of Terms Relating to 'Race' 32
2.3 De/Coloniality 33
2.3.1 Introducing the Concept 33
2.3.2 Critique of Decolonial Thought and of its Outworking in South Africa 34
2.3.3 The Coloniality of Knowledge and the Risks of Translation 36
2.3.4 Some Implications for Languacultural Relations in South Africa 38
2.4 How De/coloniality Enhances Reconciliation Theory 41
2.5 Association from a Distance—Inspiration for a Decolonial Alternative for Reconciliation? 42

Part II How the Research was Conducted

3 Research Methodology 47
3.1 Ethnography 47
3.2 Grounded Theory 48
3.2.1 Introduction 48
3.2.2 Grounded Theory Foundations 49
3.2.3 A Critical Realist Research Paradigm with a Constructivist Approach to Grounded Theory 50
3.2.4 The Validity of a Grounded Theory Study 52
3.2.5 Using Constructivist Grounded Theory 53
3.3 Languaculture-learning 53

4 The Process of Enquiry at The Message church 55
4.1 Choosing the Research Site 56
4.2 Gaining Access and Ethical Considerations 56
4.3 Defining my Data Sources 57
4.4 Data Collection and Challenges Encountered 59
4.5 Coding 62
4.6 Constant Comparisons, Memo-Writing and Categorising 64
4.7 Use of Software for Qualitative Data Analysis (QDA) 65

4.8 Theoretical Sampling and Saturation 65
4.9 Sorting and Integrating to Construct the Grounded Theory 66
4.10 Engaging the Literature after the Grounded Theory Analysis 68

Part III Empiricial Findings at The Message church

5 Introduction to my Primary Research Site: The Message church 73
5.1 The Message Church Within the Denomination REACH SA 73
5.2 The Congregation and the Structure of the Church 74
5.3 The Theological Orientation of The Message 75
5.4 White People's Perspective on the Story and the Experiences of the Church with Regard to Racial Reconciliation 76
5.4.1 Early Days of the Church and Reconciliation Initiatives Over the Years 76
5.4.2 Discontentedness and People Leaving the Church 80
5.4.3 White Church Members' Reflections on the Journey of Reconciliation at The Message 82

6 Grounded Theory Study of The Message church 85
6.1 Introduction 85
6.2 Conceptualising Reconciliation as Seeking Equality and Racial Integration 86
6.2.1 Overview 86
6.2.2 Reconciling Individuals 87
6.2.3 Reconciling Groups 91
6.3 The Motivators for 'Reconciliation as Seeking Equality and Racial Integration' 95
6.3.1 Coming to Terms with Inequalities and Privilege 96
6.3.1.1 Acknowledging Privilege 97
6.3.1.2 Evading Being Regarded as Privileged 99
6.3.1.3 Justifying Privilege 101
6.3.2 Disapproving of White Dominance 103
6.3.2.1 Resisting Seeing White Cultural Dominance at Church 104

6.3.2.2 Thinking About the Message in Terms of a White Church 108
6.3.2.3 Partial Conclusion 112
6.4 A Formative Influence on Reconciliation Practice: Hope for Transformation From Within 112
6.4.1 Knowing of Challenges 113
6.4.2 Defining the Change 114
6.4.3 Defining the Boundaries 116
6.4.3.1 The Boundaries of Language 117
6.4.3.2 The Boundaries of Theology 123
6.4.4 Summing up 'Hope for Transformation From Within' 125
6.5 Practising Reconciliation with 'Hope for Transformation From Within' 126
6.5.1 Seeking to Understand 127
6.5.1.1 Trying to Understand Through Talk 129
6.5.1.2 Needing Exposure 131
6.5.2 'Giving to' Taking Priority Over 'Giving Up' 132
6.5.2.1 Leveraging Privilege 132
6.5.2.2 Becoming Vulnerable 139
6.5.2.3 Integrating 'Leveraging Privilege' and 'Becoming Vulnerable' 141
6.5.3 Finding Unity on White Terms 144
6.5.4 Concluding Remarks on Reconciliation Practice at the Message 156

Part IV Subsidiary Study: Process and Findings

7 The Process of Enquiry for the isiXhosa Concept Study 159
7.1 Introduction 159
7.2 Choosing the Research Site 160
7.3 Gaining Access and Ethical Considerations 160
7.4 Participant Observation at St John's 162
7.5 Challenges That Turned out to be of Benefit to my Study 163
7.6 The IsiXhosa Concept Study: Research Methodology, Data Gathering and Analysis 165
7.7 On 'Verification' 166

8 Findings of the isiXhosa Concept Study 169
8.1 Ukuthandaza—'to Pray' 169
8.1.1 The Reasoning Behind This Case Study and How I Went About it 169
8.1.2 Analysing Ukuthandaza 170
8.1.3 Discussing the Findings 172
8.2 Ukushumayela—'to Preach' 174
8.2.1 The Reasoning Behind This Case Study and How I Went About it 174
8.2.2 Analysing Ukushumayela 175
8.2.3 Discussing the Findings 177
8.3 Umtshato—'Marriage' 178
8.3.1 The Reasoning Behind This Case Study and How I Went About it 178
8.3.2 Analysing Umtshato 179
8.3.3 Discussing the Findings 182
8.4 Partial Conclusion: a Chance for Cross-cultural Relations to Deepen 183

Part V Implications

9 Discussion 191
9.1 How did White People Imagine and Practice 'Reconciliation' in a Context of 'Coloniality'?—Discussing the Findings Against the Backdrop of the Original Research Questions 191
9.1.1 To What Extent Were White People Aware of Their Cultural Dominance? 192
9.1.2 How did White People Imagine Reconciliation Considering Their Understanding of Inter-cultural Power Relationships? 193
9.1.3 In Light of Their Ideas about Reconciliation, what did Reconciliation Look Like Practically for White People? 195
9.1.4 How Were Structures of Inequality Affected by the Reconciliation Process? 196
9.1.5 Partial Conclusion: Decolonisation From Above? 199
9.2 Discussing the Findings in Relation to my Theoretical Framework 202

9.2.1 How the Theoretical Framework Illuminates my Analytical Concepts 203
9.2.2 How the Theoretical Framework Extends my Analytical Concepts 208
9.2.3 How my Findings Extend and Challenge the Theoretical Framework 209

10 Conclusion 215
10.1 Significance and Implications of This Study 215
10.2 Limitations of This Study 217
10.3 Recommendations for Further Research 218
10.4 Concluding Remarks 220

Bibliography 223