Contents

List of Illustrations vii

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction. Photographs as Rupture and Affect in German Film 1
Carrie Collenberg-González and Martin P. Sheehan

Chapter 1. Layers of Exposure: The Photographic Approach in Gerhart Lamprecht's Zille Film Slums of Berlin (1925) 19
Jason Doerre

Chapter 2. Objecting Objects: Photographs and Subjectivity in The Blue Angel (1930) 37
Martin P. Sheehan

Chapter 3. Before- and Afterlives: On the Stillness of Photographs at the Outset of Adenauer Cinema 56
John E. Davidson

Chapter 4. Filming after Walker Evans: Wim Wenders' "American Photographs" in Kings of the Road (1976) 76
Stefanie Harris

Chapter 5. The Transgression of Overpainting: Jürgen Böttcher's Radical Experiments with Intermediality in Transformations (1981) 101
Matthew Bauman

Chapter 6. The Promise of Agency: Photographs and Value in Tattoo (2002) 122
Cynthia Porter

Chapter 7. Curating the Image: Visual Intertextuality in The Baader Meinhof Complex (2008) 139
Reinhard Zachau

Bibliografische Informationen
https://d-nb.info/1278067213

digitalisiert durch DEUTSCHE NATIONAL BIBLIOTHEK

Chapter 8. Re-presenting German Heritage Films: Photographic Memory in Aimée & Jaguar (1999), Good Bye, Lenin! (2003), and Almanya: Welcome to Germany (2011) 156
Carrie Collenberg-González

Chapter 9. Imaging the "Good Life": Destabilizing Subjecthood and Conceptions of the Normative Family in Ghosts (2005) 174
Simone Pfleger

Chapter 10. Violence, Death, and Photographs: Capturing the (Un)Dead in Rammbock (2010) 193
Melissa Etzler

Chapter 11. Possible Archives: Encountering a Surveillance Photo in Karl Marx City (2016) 210
Anke Pinkert

Afterword. Toward a Camera Ludica: Agency and Photography in Videogame Ecologies 231
Curtis L. Maughan

Index 239