

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
List of Abbreviations	viii
Introduction. Social Movements after '68: Histories, Selves, Solidarities Stephen Milder, Belinda Davis, and Friederike Brühöfener	1
Part I. Working with—and against—the Past
CHAPTER 1. Leaving the Borderlands ... but for Where? 1968 and the New Registers of Political Feeling Geoff Eley	23
CHAPTER 2. Conceptions of Democracy and West German New Social Movement Activism Michael L. Hughes	46
CHAPTER 3. New Social Movements and the New Role of the Intellectual: From the "'68ers" Critique (of the Intellectual) to (the Typus of) the "Specific Intellectual" Ingrid Gilcher-Holtey	67
CHAPTER 4. Fighting with Feelings: Experiences of Protest and Emotional Practices in the Autonomous West German Women's Movement during the 1970s and 1980s Bernhard Gotto	88
Part II. "Start Where You Are"
CHAPTER 5. "Break Down the Violence in a Place Where It Is Vulnerable": The Urban '68 and Its Aftermath—Expert Critique, "Tenant Campaigns," and Squatter Movements Freia Anders	111
CHAPTER 6. Running Over Trees in Germany: Social Movements and the US Army, 1975–85 Adam R. Seipp	133

CHAPTER 7. Radical Change Close to Home: Transforming the Self and Relations in West German Alternative Politics Belinda Davis	153
CHAPTER 8. Changing the World for the Better: Women Activists' Redefinitions of Identities, Relationships, and Society Friederike Brühöfener	173
CHAPTER 9. From Self-Organization to Self-Management: Paradigms of Social Movements in West Germany from '68 to the Early 1980s David Templin	193
 Part III. "Learn to Live in Solidarity"
CHAPTER 10. The Gay Movement in 1970s West Germany: Liberation in Its Multidimensional Context Craig Griffiths	217
CHAPTER 11. Radical Protest or Shadow Diplomacy? The Decolonization of Zimbabwe and West German Maoism, 1960–80 David Spreen	238
CHAPTER 12. Supporting a Revolution: West German Nicaragua Solidarity and Its Transnational Connections with the Nicaraguan Sandinistas Christian Helm	259
CHAPTER 13. East German Environmental Activism and the West: Connections, Common Ground, and Difference across the Iron Curtain Julia E. Ault	283
CHAPTER 14. Activists Divided? Continental Imaginations in West Germany's 1968 and Beyond Anna von der Goltz	303
Conclusion. Democracy in the Streets, Social Change in the Countryside: Grassroots Struggles, Solidarity Work, and Political Power after '68 Stephen Milder	324
Index	338