Preface — VII

List of Tables — XIII

List of Figures — XV

Introduction — 1

Chapter 1 Continuity and Process Realism — 3

- 1.1 Introduction — 3
- 1.2 Defining “Process” for Use in the Philosophy of Science — 5
 - 1.2.1 Processes vs. Things — 6
 - 1.2.2 What Is a Process? — 8
- 1.3 A Thought Experiment: First-Level Process-Realist Commitment — 12
 - 1.3.1 The Unchanging Room — 12
 - 1.3.2 Without Process, No Observation — 15
- 1.4 The Continuity Argument — 17
 - 1.4.1 The Simple Continuity Argument — 18
 - 1.4.2 The Complex Continuity Argument — 21
- 1.5 Conclusion — 31

Chapter 2 Processes Underlie Processes — 34

- 2.1 Introduction — 34
- 2.2 Underlier Arguments and Their Types — 36
 - 2.2.1 Underliers of Experimental Practice: Stability within and between Experiments — 37
 - 2.2.2 Stability of Descriptions and Models — 58
 - 2.2.3 Manifest and Assumed Stability — 72
- 2.3 General Refutation: From Negation to Position — 84
 - 2.3.1 The Negative: Refuting Underlier Arguments Algorithmically — 84
 - 2.3.2 The Positive: Explaining Stability — 86
- 2.4 Conclusion — 88

Interlude: Two Shifts in Method — 91

Chapter 3 The Candle Flame: A Process-Realist Analysis — 93

- 3.1 Introduction — 93
- 3.2 The Flame and Phlogiston, the Thing Realist's Posit — 95
- 3.3 Explaining Things Away — 99
 - 3.3.1 What Do We See in the Flames? — 99
 - 3.3.2 What Do We Explain about the Flames? — 102
 - 3.3.3 Explaining What Needs Explaining — 103
- 3.4 What Explanatory Role, Things? — 115
 - 3.4.1 New Thing Terms Appear in Our Explanations ... — 115
 - 3.4.2 ... But Things Play No Role in Our Explanations — 116
- 3.5 Conclusion — 122

Chapter 4 Perrin's Argument: A Robustness Argument for Processes, Not Things — 126

- 4.1 Introduction — 126
- 4.2 Perrin's Intuition Pump: The Bath and Cascading Fluid Motion — 127
- 4.3 Perrin's Historical/Eliminative Argument — 129
- 4.4 Perrin's Precise Arguments — 132
 - 4.4.1 Argument 1: Qualitative Robustness — 132
 - 4.4.2 Argument 2: Quantitative Robustness — 135
 - 4.4.3 Summary — 144
- 4.5 Conclusion — 145

Chapter 5 Models of the Nucleus: Incompatible Things, Compatible Processes — 147

- 5.1 Introduction — 147
- 5.2 Many Models, Divergent Things — 149
 - 5.2.1 The Liquid-Drop Model — 150
 - 5.2.2 The Shell Model — 153
 - 5.2.3 Incompatibility — 155
- 5.3 The Features of the Nucleus Are Processes — 157
 - 5.3.1 Formal Features of the Nucleus: Balanced Dynamics — 159
 - 5.3.2 Material Features of the Nucleus — 166
 - 5.3.3 Reestablishing Compatibility — 170
- 5.4 Conclusion and Prospectus — 171

Summary and Prospectus — 174

Bibliography — 175
