

Contents

Preface — V

Sylvia Brockstieger & Paul Schweitzer-Martin

Between Manuscript and Print—Introduction — 1

Carla Meyer-Schlenkrich & Paul Schweitzer-Martin

The Risk to Print History in the Late 15th Century. Johann Koelhoff's Chronicle Project in 1499 — 9

Pia Eckhart

Medial Translations and Material Manifestations. The Fasciculus Medicinae
in Physician-Patient Interaction — 43

Ilona Steimann

A Good Book is an Old Book? Hebrew Manuscripts and Prints in 16th-Century
Christian Book Collections — 89

Silvia Hufnagel

Title Pages in Icelandic Post-Medieval Manuscripts and Books — 111

Joana van de Löcht

Behaving like Print. On the Graphic and Performative Adaptation of Printed Letters in Early Modern Handwriting — 139

Uwe Maximilian Korn

‘Bilderfahrzeug’ of the Rosicrucians. Daniel Mögling’s Speculum Sophicum
Rhodostauroticum (1618) in Print and Manuscript — 159

Takahiro Sasaki

Manuscript Features of Early Japanese Movable Type Books. On the Intersection of Eastern and Western Typesetting Techniques — 187

Radu Leca

The Media Trajectory of Kano Naganobu’s Merrymaking under Cherry and Aronia
Blossoms — 209

Notes on Contributors — 233

Index of Names and Locations — 235