

Contents

Manuela Consonni and Philip Nord

Introduction — 1

Carolyn J. Dean

The Witness to Genocide in the Twentieth and Twenty-First Centuries — 13

Uri S. Cohen

Primo Levi between the Editions — 31

Ran Shauli

Inside and Outside the Courtroom: Witnessing the Massacres of Chinese in Japanese Occupied Malaya, Singapore, and Rabaul — 49

Toni Rovatti

Divided Memories? The Last Testimonies on Nazi Massacres in Italy — 79

Valentina Pisanty

Identification and Make-Believe: The Fallacies of Prosthetic Memory — 111

Fabien Théofilakis

Adolf Eichmann in Jerusalem: Defendant and Witness in the Glass Booth? — 129

Joan Ramon Resina

The Witness's Brew. On Imposture and Impostor Hunting — 157

Vera Schwarcz

Expanding Historical Empathy: How the Holocaust is Helping Chinese Remember Atrocities of the Mao Era — 181

Amos Goldberg

Witnesses, Silence and Mimicry in Elias Khoury's "Children of the Ghetto" — 197

VI — Contents

Anna Pollmann

No Judges, Only Witnesses: Witnessing Genocide in the Vietnam Tribunal's Courtroom Setting of 1966–1967 — 217

Leona Toker

Not Typical but Typifying: Varlam Shalamov's "A Piece of Meat" — 239

Martina Weisz

Witnessing as Counter-Power: Testimony and Crimes against Humanity in the Argentinian Province of Jujuy — 249

Index — 269