

Contents

Acknowledgements — IX

List of maps, tables, figures, and photographs — XI

On transcription choices and translation — XV

Maps — XVII

Family trees — XXI

Ferīkh individuals — XXV

Chapter 1

Researching nomadic connectivity — 1

Looking at and beyond a context of insecurity — 6

The globalizing wilderness — 17

Chapter 2

Contextualizing itineraries — 23

The ‘field’ and its co-creation — 31

Who are the Walad Djifir? — 33

The ferīkh in place and space — 47

Chapter 3

Brothers in arms — 57

Ferīkh politics — 60

Old leaders and new ‘opposantes’ — 71

Leaders as strategy and resource — 75

Chapter 4

The walk of life — 82

Kin and cattle: Adaptation and flexibility — 85

Cash and cattle: Money for nothing — 99

Cattle and commerce: Politics and economic changes — 109

The walk of life and modernizing economies — 116

VIII — Contents

Chapter 5

New mobilities and old mistrusts — 119

Technologies, networks, and transactions — 121

Contexts of sending money — 132

New mobilities, new exchanges, and old mistrusts? — 137

Chapter 6

Family and belonging in times of crisis — 143

Mobility, disruption, and family — 144

The nature of Chadian presence in CAR — 146

Three women, three stories — 153

The place of family and belonging amidst disruption — 186

Chapter 7

The everyday wilderness 192

Walad Djifir connectivity — 194

Groundedness amidst rupture — 200

Bibliography — 205

Glossary of Chadian Arabic and French terms — 221

Index — 223