

Table of Contents

Preface	V
Abbreviations and References.....	XV
Introduction	1
1. Intertextuality	3
1.1 Intertextuality and the New Testament	6
1.2 Intertextuality: Synchrony and Diachrony	8
1.3 Deconstruction of Postmodern “Subjectivism”	12
1.4 Stable Intersubjective Conclusions.....	17
1.5 Nothing is Text Internal Only	17
1.6 Dominant Texts, Culture, Author and Audience	20
1.7 Excursus: The Relevance of Sensus Plenior	25
1.8 Conclusion	26
2. Deconstruction of Quotation, Allusion and Echo	29
2.1 What are Quotations, Allusions and Echoes?.....	30

2.2 Definitions That Meet the Needs of the Researcher? 34

2.3 Literary Reference (1st Factor) 35

2.4 Degree of Verbal Agreement (2nd Factor)..... 36

2.5 Level of Intent and Awareness (3rd Factor)..... 40

2.6 Strategies for Implicational Change (4th Factor) 49

2.7 The Relationship Between the First Four Factors 51

3. Exegetical Change as a Multidimensional Activity55

3.1 Continuity within Change (5th Factor) 55

3.2 Degree of Inspired Interpretation (6th Factor) 58

3.3 Perceived Authority of the Archetext (7th Factor) 60

3.4 Metalepsis (8th Factor) 62

3.5 Isolation of Elements from the Pretext (9th Factor) 64

3.6 Embedding of Text Elements in New Text (10th Factor) 65

3.7 Worldview (11th Factor) 66

3.8 Agreeable Modes of Interpretation (12th Factor) 68

3.9 Norms of Language (13th Factor) 69

3.10 Cultural Meaning of Words (14th Factor) 69

3.11 Sociological Dynamics (15th Factor) 71

3.12 Mixed Recontextualizations (16th Factor)..... 74

3.13 Chain Recontextualizations (17th Factor)..... 75

3.14 Change of “Gattung” (18th Factor) 75

3.15 Cohesion in the Text (19 th Factor).....	77
3.16 Motive of Intertextuality (20 th Factor).....	77
3.17 Focalization (21 st Factor).....	78
3.18 Perceived Audience Response (22 nd Factor).....	80
3.19 Physical and Historical Context (23 rd Factor).....	81
3.20 Application to the Here and Now (24 th Factor).....	82
3.21 Pattern of Association to a Phenotext (25 th Factor).....	83
3.22 Associations of the Audience (26 th Factor).....	83
3.23 Finality of Text (27 th Factor).....	84
3.24 Narrative Patterns (28 th Factor).....	85
3.25 A New Name for the Phenomenon?	85
3.26 Feasibility	87
4. Explicit Reference in the Gospel of Matthew	89
4.1 The nature of the fulfilment ‘quotations’	90
4.2 Text Material in the ‘Quotations’	91
4.3 The Meaning of the Term ‘Fulfil’	92
4.4 ‘It is Fulfilled’ in Matthew, the Other Gospels and Acts.....	97
4.5 Discussion.....	101
5. Paratext: Book Opening Based on Genesis (Matt 1:1)	103
5.1 Son of Abraham, Son of David	104
5.2 The Title of the Gospel?	105

5.3	Use of the Term ‘Book’ as Actual Paratext	111
5.4	Grammatical Considerations	113
5.5	Exegetical Technique	116
5.6	Conclusion	119
6.	Matthew’s Genealogy Read as Exegetical Change	121
6.1	Matthew’s Genealogy as Rewritten Scripture	121
6.2	Omissions and Additions	124
6.3	Abraham and David	126
6.4	Interchange of Names	128
6.5	The Women	133
6.6	Exegetical Method in the Genealogy	141
6.7	Concluding Remarks	142
7.	Recontextualisation in the Infancy Story	145
7.1	“God with Us” (Matt 1:23)	145
7.1.1	Matthew’s Verbatim Recontextualization	149
7.1.2	Text Criticism	150
7.1.3	Virgin	152
7.1.4	Inclusio: Jesus – Immanuel – Jesus	158
7.1.5	Contextual Reinforcement	161
7.1.6	Discussion	164
7.2	Ruler of Judah	165
7.2.1	Reference Formula and Text Form	167
7.2.2	Bethlehem as Birthplace of the Messiah	171
7.2.3	From “Ephrata” to “Land of Judah”	173
7.2.4	You are not the Least	176
7.2.5	Why ἡγεμών?	178

7.2.6	Metalepsis from the Old Testament Context?	181
7.2.7	The Shepherd Motif from 2Sam 5:2 and 1Chr 11:2	182
7.2.8	Discussion	186
7.3	“Out of Egypt I Called my Son” (Matt 2:15b)	187
7.3.1	Multiple Parallels in the Text of Matthew 2:15	189
7.3.2	Hos 11:1 in Matt 2:15	191
7.3.3	Num 24:17 is not a Close Parallel	194
7.3.4	Son of God	194
7.3.5	Into and Out of Egypt	196
7.3.6	Conclusion	197
7.4	The Voice in Ramah in Matt 2:18	197
7.4.1	Recontextualization	198
7.4.2	The Issue of Location and Tribal Affiliation	199
7.4.3	A Second Recontextualization: Gen 37:35	202
7.5	Conclusion	204
8.	The Nazorean : Matt 2:23.	207
8.1	The Spelling of Nazareth in the New Testament	208
8.2	The Branch of Jesse	210
8.3	The Nazirite , the Prince or the Crowned One	213
8.4	An OT Background for Nazirite and Nezer	217
8.5	Tentative Historical Development	223
8.6	Conclusion	224
9.	The Baptist as the Forerunner of Jesus	227
9.1	Exegetical Change by Use of Pronoun	227
9.2	Reading Matthew along with the Qumran Scrolls	228
9.3	Matthew’s Reuse of LXX Isa 40:3	229

9.4 John the Baptist and Elijah in Matt 3:4..... 232

9.5 Conclusion to Matt 3 240

10. The Temptation Narrative241

10.1 Matthew and Luke; Q and Mark..... 242

10.2 Apocalyptic Motifs in the Temptation Narrative..... 245

10.3 Genre 246

10.4 Worldview and Setting 247

10.5 Messianic Language in and around the Temptation 250

10.6 The Temptation Story and the Decalogue 252

10.7 Three Temptations..... 256

10.8 Conclusion 268

11. General Conclusion271

Bibliography275

Index of References to Ancient Sources.....293

Index of Modern Authors319

Index of Subjects.....323