

Acknowledgments	vii
Permissions	ix
Foreword by Mark Featherstone	xi
Introduction
Chapter One Ecological Crisis and Global Language Learning	3
Materialisms
Chapter Two On the Materiality of Thixotropic Slogans	21
Chapter Three Materialism and the Mediating Third	41
Chapter Four Affective Literacies: Deleuze, Discipline, and Power	55
Multiplicities
Chapter Five On Multiple Literacies and Language Learning: Video Production and Embodied Subjectivities	75
Chapter Six From Which Point Do We Begin?: On Combining the Multilateral and Multiperspectival	89

Becoming

Chapter Seven Japanese English Learners on the Edge of Chaosmos:
Félix Guattari and Becoming-Otaku 111

Chapter Eight Becoming-Literature: Deleuze and the Craquelure 125

Chapter Nine Latino Families Becoming-Literate in Australia: Deleuze,
Literacy and the Politics of Immigration 145

Pedagogy

Chapter Ten On Conjuring the Pea-and-Thimble Trick 163

Chapter Eleven Woe Betide You the Truth Be Told: Linguistic Corruption
as a Pedagogical Tool 173

Chapter Twelve The Power of Emotional Factors in English Teaching 187

Globalisation

Chapter Thirteen Deleuze and Globlish: Imperial Tongues, Faceless Coins, War Machines 207

Chapter Fourteen Reading in the Future: Literacy and the Time of the Internet 231

Chapter Fifteen Deleuze and Narrative Investigation: the Multiple Literacies of Sudanese Families in Australia 249

Index 263