Part 1: Introduction
1. What Is Phytotherapy?	3
1.1 Definition	3
1.1.1 Constituents and Structural Composition	3
1.1.2 Phytotherapy and Herbal Medicine	4
1.2 History	4
1.3 Phytotherapy: A Particular Therapeutic System?	5
1.3.1 Phytotherapy and Mainstream Medicine	6
1.3.2 Effect and Efficacy	8
1.3.3 Phytotherapy and Prevention	9
1.4 Importance of Proof of Efficacy	10
1.4.1 Legal Foundation in Germany	10
1.4.2 International Standards	11
1.4.3 Findings and Feeling	12
1.5 Side Effects	15
1.5.1 Risks and Undesirable Effects	15
1.5.2 Relationship between Dosage and Effect	16
1.6 Interactions	17
Bibliography	18
2. Specific Aspects	21
2.1 Quality Assurance	21
2.1.1 Finished Pharmaceutical Products ..	21
2.1.2 Preparation Methods	22
2.2 Guidelines for Prescribing Medicinal Plants	23
2.2.1 Basic Principles	23
2.2.2 Important Terms and Prescription-Writing Guidelines	25
2.3 Medicinal Teas	25
2.3.1 Composition	25
2.3.2 Naming	25
2.3.3 Instructions for Use	26
2.3.4 Instant Teas and Ready-Made Tea Blends	27
2.4 Phytobalneoogy	28
2.4.1 Types of Applications	29
2.4.2 Instructions for Use	29
Bibliography	31
Part 2: Practical Applications
3. Gastrointestinal and Metabolic Disorders	35
3.1 Mucous Membrane Disorders of the Mouth and Throat	37
3.1.1 Acute Stomatitis, Acute Pharyngitis, Nonpyogenic Tonsillitis	37

Contents

3.1.2	Chronic Stomatitis, Chronic Pharyngitis	39	3.3.7	Hemorrhoids	99
3.1.3	Herpes Simplex, Herpes Labialis (Cold Sores)	40	3.4	Hepatic and Biliary Disorders	103
3.2	Gastric Disorders	42	3.4.1	Hepatic Disorders	103
3.2.1	Acute Gastritis	42	3.4.2	Biliary Dyskinesia	111
3.2.2	Irritable Stomach	51	3.4.3	Gallstones, Postcholecystectomy Syndrome	119
3.2.3	Chronic Gastritis, Lack of Appetite	51	3.5	Functional Dyspepsia	121
3.2.4	Gastric and Duodenal (Peptic) Ulcers	66	3.5.1	Dyspeptic Symptoms	122
3.3	Gastroenterological Disorders	72	3.6	Endocrine and Metabolic Disorders	129
3.3.1	Irritable Bowel Syndrome (IBS)	72	3.6.1	Glucose Metabolism Disorders (Diabetes mellitus)	129
3.3.2	Meteorism, Roemheld Syndrome	73	3.6.2	Lipometabolic Disorders (Hyperlipoproteinemia, Dyslipoproteinemia)	132
3.3.3	Inflammatory Bowel Disease (IBD)	82	3.6.3	Hyperthyroidism	134
3.3.4	Diarrhea	84
3.3.5	Chronic Slow Transit Constipation	89
3.3.6	Proctitis	98
4.	Heart and Circulatory System Disorders	136
4.1	Degenerative Heart and Vascular Disorders	137	4.3.1	The “Nervous” Heart	166
4.1.1	Coronary Heart Disease	137	4.4	Circulatory System Dysregulation	167
4.1.2	Congestive Heart Failure	147	4.4.1	Arterial Hypertension	167
4.1.3	Peripheral and Cerebral Vascular Disorders	154	4.4.2	Arterial Hypotension	172
4.2	Heart Arrhythmia	163	4.5	Venous System Disorders	176
4.2.1	Benign Cardiac Arrhythmia	163	4.5.1	Chronic Venous Insufficiency	176
4.3	Functional Heart Disorders	166
5.	Respiratory Disorders	181
5.1	Acute and Chronic Respiratory Infections	182	5.3.1	Interval Therapy using Phytopharmaceuticals	202
5.1.1	Bronchial Infections	182	5.4	Flu and Common Cold	204
5.2	Sinusitis	201	5.4.1	Immune-Modulating Phytopharmaceuticals	204
5.2.1	Combination Preparation Sinupret	201	5.4.2	Diaphorethics	206
5.3	Bronchial Asthma	202	5.4.3	Proven Prescriptions	208
			5.4.4	Plants that Contain Vitamin C	208
				Bibliography	211

6.	Kidney, Urinary Tract, and Prostate Disorders	213
6.1	Urinary Tract Infections	214
6.1.1	Uncomplicated Acute and Subacute Cystitis	214
6.2	Dysuria Symptoms	219
6.2.1	Aquaretics and Antidyscratics	219
6.3	Kidney Stones and Urinary Tract Stones	226
6.3.1	Flushing Therapy	226
6.4	Functional Disorders	227
6.4.1	Bed-Wetting	227
6.4.2	Irritable Bladder and Prostatopathy	227
6.4.3	Benign Prostatic Hyperplasia (BPH)	228
	Bibliography	231
7.	Rheumatic Disorders and Gout	234
7.1	Rheumatic Disorders	235
7.1.1	Arthritis and Arthrosis	235
7.2	Gout	248
7.2.1	Acute Gout Flare	248
	Bibliography	249
8.	Nervous System and Psychogenic Disorders	251
8.1	Nervous Unrest and Sleep Disorders	252
8.1.1	Limits and Possibilities of Phytopharmaceuticals	252
8.2	Depressive Mood Disorders	264
8.2.1	High Placebo Effect	264
8.3	Psychophysical Exhaustion	272
8.3.1	Phytopharmaceuticals: Limits and Possibilities	272
8.4	Autonomic Dysregulation, Dysautonomia	276
8.4.1	Autonomic Dysregulation	276
8.5	Degenerative Central Nervous System Disorders	277
8.5.1	Cognitive Brain Dysfunctions	277
8.6	Vascular Headache, Neuralgia	282
8.6.1	Migraines	282
8.7	Addiction Recovery	285
8.7.1	Nicotine Addiction	285
9.	Skin Disorders	286
9.1	Dermatitis and Eczema	287
9.1.1	Acute, Wet Eczema	287
9.1.2	Dry Eczema	291
9.2	Atopic Dermatitis	293
9.2.1	Neurodermatitis	293
9.3	Venous Ulcers (Ulcus cruris)	294
9.3.1	External Applications	294
9.4	Furunculosis	296

Contents

9.4.1	Internal and External Applications	296	9.7	Wounds, Contusions, Distortions	299
9.5	Chilblains	297	9.7.1	External Applications	299
9.5.1	Astringents	297	9.7.2	Herpes Labialis and Viral Warts	301
9.6	Lymphedema	298		Bibliography	301
9.6.1	External Applications	298
10.	Gynecological Disorders	303
10.1	Hormonal Dysfunction	303	10.3	Leukorrhea (Fluor albus)	310
10.1.1	Premenstrual Syndrome, Mastodynia	303	10.3.1	Tea Preparations and Rinses	310
10.1.2	Menopause Symptoms	305	10.4	Pelvic Congestion	312
10.2	Functional Menstrual Disorders	308	10.4.1	Plants Used in Treatment	312
10.2.1	Amenorrhea, Oligomenorrhea	308		Bibliography	313
10.2.2	Dysmenorrhea	308
11.	Geriatric Disorders	315
11.1	Sclerotic Heart and Vascular Disorders	316	11.5	Metabolic Disorders	327
11.1.1	Aging Heart and Arteriosclerosis . . .	317	11.5.1	Deposition Disorders	327
11.2	Digestive Disorders	321	11.6	Anxiety, Insomnia, Depression	328
11.2.1	Decline in Digestive Capacity	321	11.6.1	First-Line Therapy Phytopharmaceuticals	328
11.3	Respiratory Disorders	326	11.7	Exhaustion, Avolition	328
11.4	Kidney, Efferent Urinary Tract and Prostate Disorders	326	11.7.1	Phytogeriatric Remedies	329
11.4.1	Benign Prostatic Hyperplasia (BPH)	326		Bibliography	329
12.	Pediatric Disorders	330
12.1	Digestive Disorders	332	12.2	Respiratory Disorders	337
12.1.1	Dyspeptic Symptoms	332	12.2.1	Colds	337
12.1.2	Lack of Appetite	333	12.2.2	Spasmodic Coughs and Whooping Cough	338
12.1.3	Flatulence	334
12.1.4	Diarrhea	335	12.3	Uncomplicated Infections	339
12.1.5	Constipation	336

12.3.1	Colds	339	12.6	Skin Disorders.	342
12.4	Kidney and Urinary Tract Disorders.	340	12.6.1	Dermatitis	342
12.5	Anxiety, Restlessness, Sleep Disorders, Depression	340	12.6.2	Contusions, Hematomas, Sprains . . .	343
