4.5	Summary of the State of Research and Research Gap. . . . .	120
5	Intermediate Conclusion: Conceptual Framing and Research Questions . . . . .	123
5.1	Conceptual Framing for the Exploration of the Spaces and Atmospheres of Coworking. . . . .	123
5.2	Research Questions . . . . .	127

Part II Structure of the Empirical Study

6	Methodological Approach	131
6.1	Data Collection	134
6.1.1	Photo Interviews with Users: Photo Elicitation	137
6.1.2	Interviews with Members of the Operating Team	142
6.1.3	Participating Observation or Observing Participation	143
6.1.4	Deep Involvement in the Field	146
6.2	Case Selection and Overview of the Samples	148
6.2.1	Sample Tabit	150
6.2.2	Sample Sargas	152
6.3	Data Preparation and Analysis	153
6.3.1	Exploring and Structuring: Qualitative Content Analysis	157
6.3.2	Detailed Analyses: Hermeneutic Interpretation	162
6.3.3	Typification	166
6.4	Critical Reflection on the Research Design	167

Part III Results of the Empirical Study

7	Case Portraits of the Examined Coworking Spaces	173
7.1	Case Portrait Tabit	173
7.1.1	Background	173
7.1.2	Spaces and Experiences	176
7.2	Case Portrait Sargas	183
7.2.1	Background	183
7.2.2	Spaces and Experiences	186
7.3	Intermediate Conclusion: Typical Work Settings	202
8	Material Shape: Practices, Spaces and Atmospheres	205
8.1	Practices for Maintaining Distance and Creating Proximity	206
8.1.1	Doing Being Busy	208
8.1.2	Doing Being Open	209
8.2	The Production of Spatial Atmospheres of Work and Atmospheres of Communitization	212
8.2.1	Spaces for Concentrated Mental Work	212
8.2.2	Spaces for Interaction	218
8.3	The Production of Communal Atmospheres Through Events and Trust-Building Practices	230

8.3.1	Events. . . . .	231
8.3.2	Trust-Building Practices and Rituals . . . . .	235
8.4	Intermediate Conclusion: The Material Shape of Coworking Spaces and the Role of Curating . . . . .	237
9	Subject Perspective I: The Entry into the Coworking Space . . . . .	241
9.1	Motives and Advantages for Working in the Coworking Space . . . . .	242
9.2	The Search for the Right Coworking Space. . . . .	248
9.2.1	How the Coworkers Became Aware of the CWS. . . . .	248
9.2.2	The Decision for the CWS and the Role of Atmospheres. . . . .	249
9.3	Intermediate Conclusion: Entering the Coworking Space. . . . .	255
10	Subject Perspective II: The Development of the Spaces of Work. . .	257
10.1	Arriving and Settling in: The Own Placement in the Coworking Space . . . . .	261
10.1.1	Action-Guiding Dimensions for One's Own Placement . . . . .	262
10.1.2	Positioning of Flex-Desk Users. . . . .	283
10.1.3	Retreat Spaces . . . . .	288
10.1.4	Intermediate Conclusion: Arriving and Settling in . . . . .	293
10.2	Setting Up: Positioning at the Place and Involved Artifacts . . . . .	294
10.2.1	Workplaces and Associated Reconstructions. . . . .	295
10.2.2	Technical Artifacts and Their Role in the Constitution of the Workplace: Laptop and Headphones . . . . .	303
10.2.3	Excursus: The Importance of the Analog-Material Space in the Context of Team Work. . . . .	308
10.2.4	Intermediate Conclusion: Setting Up. . . . .	310
10.3	Dealing with the Search for Flexible Workplaces . . . . .	311
10.3.1	Own Attitude Towards the Flex-Desk Concept . . . . .	313
10.3.2	Practices of Territory Formation Opposed to the Flex-Desk Concept. . . . .	315
10.4	User Types I: Situationally Changing Office Nomads, Conventional and Unconventional Office Workers . . . . .	320
10.4.1	Situationally Changing Office Nomads . . . . .	322
10.4.2	Conventional Office Workers. . . . .	325
10.4.3	Unconventional Office Workers. . . . .	327

10.5	Intermediate Conclusion: The Subjective Development of the Spaces of Work .....	329
11	Subject Perspective III: The Development of the Spaces of Communitization. .....	333
11.1	Experienced Relationships and Social Interactions .....	334
11.1.1	Experienced Relationships with Other Coworkers ....	335
11.1.2	Experienced Social Interactions. ....	341
11.1.3	Individual Differences in the Building of Social Relationships .....	346
11.2	Subjective Meaning of and Participation in Events and Activities .....	351
11.3	User Types II: Work-Focused and Community-Oriented .....	358
11.3.1	Work-Focused .....	358
11.3.2	Community-Oriented .....	360
11.4	Intermediate Conclusion: The Subjective Development of the Spaces of Communitization .....	362
12	Subject Perspective IV: Views On the Social Formations of the Coworking Space. .....	365
12.1	The True Coworking: The Coworking Space As a Self-Organized Communitization .....	366
12.2	The Commodity Coworking: The Coworking Space As a Service Provider. ....	370
12.3	Curated Coworking: The Coworking Space As Guided Communitization .....	372
12.4	Own Role in Relation to the Social Formations .....	375
12.5	Intermediate Conclusion: Perspectives On the Social Formations of the Coworking Space .....	377
13	Tensions in Everyday Coworking Space Life .....	381
13.1	Tensions in Relation to the Commodity Coworking .....	382
13.1.1	Service Work Space .....	383
13.1.2	Service of Community Space. ....	396
13.2	Tensions in Relation to the True Coworking .....	401
13.2.1	Self-Organized Work Community .....	401
13.2.2	Lack of Active Participation of Users in Communal Activities .....	403
13.3	Dealing With Tensions .....	409
13.3.1	Coworkers Act as Community Members .....	409
