

Contents

SPONSORS' FOREWORD	13	Helmut Schleweis
FOREWORD	14	Philipp Demandt, Sabine Haag
ESSAYS	18	Wolfgang Augustyn '... to Augsburg, one of the most important cities in Germany ...'
	26	Andreas Tacke 'The devil always shits on the biggest dung heap.' Augsburg as an Early Modern artistic centre
	34	Guido Messling Holbein and Burgkmair. A tale of two Augsburg artists
	48	Manuel Teget-Welz When Three Minds Meet. Hans Holbein the Elder and Michel and Gregor Erhart
	56	Ulrich Söding Burgkmair and Italy
	70	Friederike Schütt Albrecht Dürer and Jakob Fugger. Providing impulses for art in Augsburg
	78	Bodo Brinkmann 'Family Business'. Conjectures on the Holbein family of painters in 1512
	86	Jochen Sander Hans Holbein the Younger. Formative experiences as an artist in Augsburg and his first decade in Basel
	92	Armin Kunz Printmaking in Augsburg
	106	Heidrun Lange-Krach The Traces of Hans Holbein the Elder in Augsburg. A search among the sources
CATALOGUE	120	1 – Augsburg around 1500: New subjects, new techniques, new opportunities
	160	2 – Holbein and Burgkmair
	268	3 – The Fuggers, the Fugger Chapel, and Dürer
	290	4 – All Kinds of Change: Patrons in Augsburg
	326	5 – From Augsburg to Basel: Holbein's sons
	344	Reference List
	360	Photographic Credits