

Contents

Acknowledgements — VII

Notes on Sources and Abbreviations — XI

Introduction — 1

- I Aesthetic experience — 8
- II Aesthetic compensation for disenchantment — 11
- III The sublime in Kant and Kierkegaard — 15
- IV Chapter overview — 21

Part I Kant's Aesthetics of the Sublime

Chapter 1

The Conflictual Character of the Kantian Sublime — 27

- 1.1 Nature and freedom: Heteronomy versus autonomy — 31
- 1.2 The form of the moral law — 34
- 1.3 Final causality — 36
- 1.4 The systematic place of the Kritik der Urteilskraft — 40
- 1.5 The unified strategy of the Kritik der Urteilskraft — 43
- 1.6 Teleological versus aesthetic judgement — 50
- 1.7 Forms of purposiveness — 53
- 1.8 The judgement of the beautiful — 54
- 1.9 Sublimity and teleology – astonishment and admiration — 58
- 1.10 The aesthetic experience of the sublime — 60
 - 1.10.1 The double conflict of the sublime — 64
 - 1.10.2 The sublime instant — 68
- 1.11 The extra-aesthetic significance of the sublime — 75

Chapter 2

Enthusiasm: The Politico-Historical Sublime — 78

- 2.1 Variations of the Kantian sublime — 83
 - 2.1.1 The moral-philosophical sublime — 86
 - 2.1.2 Sublime affects in the Allgemeine Anmerkung — 92
 - 2.1.3 Affective frames of response — 95
 - 2.1.4 Enthusiasm as affect (versus passion) — 99
- 2.2 Enthusiasm and the French Revolution in Erneuerte Frage — 103
 - 2.2.1 Models of justification of the hypothesis of progress — 105

- 2.3 The politico-historical sublime — 111
- 2.3.1 The contingent and singular appearance — 114
- 2.3.2 The twofold appearance — 115
- 2.3.3 Relative formlessness and contrapurposiveness — 117
- 2.4 Conclusion — 120

Part II Kierkegaard's Transfigurations of the Sublime

Chapter 3

Aesthetic Figures of the Sublime — 125

- 3.1 The sublime: The presence of an absent concept — 128
- 3.2 The critique and self-critique of the aesthetic — 131
- 3.3 The aesthetic mode of existence: A as aesthete — 134
- 3.4 Aesthetic self-critique: A as aesthetician — 138
- 3.5 The tragic sublime: 'Our Antigone' — 141
- 3.6 Sublime sorrow: The silhouettes — 148
- 3.7 Conclusion — 153

Chapter 4

The Ethico-Religious Sublime: The Image of Contradiction — 155

- 4.1 Representation of the God-man — 155
- 4.2 Anti-Climacus' aesthetics of the image — 164
- 4.3 The eternal image — 167
- 4.4 The God-man as paradox: Offence — 171
- 4.4.1 Theoretical offence — 172
- 4.4.2 Practical offence — 177
- 4.5 The God-man as sign of contradiction — 180
- 4.6 Representation as image(s) — 182
- 4.6.1 The representation of suffering: Anti-Climacus' iconoclasm — 185
- 4.6.2 The image of the crucifixion — 191
- 4.6.3 The image of (im)perfection — 193
- 4.7 The God-man as prototype for imitation — 196

Conclusion — 202

Bibliography — 216

Index — 229