

PREAMBLE

Berlin, Border Crossing Friedrichstrasse 13

LIFE STORIES

The beginning 25

Hidden talents 28

Frauke and the meaning of life 32

Ego versus team spirit 37

Berlin is calling 42

Medicine isn't the answer either 47

A publisher now 56

Adverts for Checkpoint Charlie 61

Everything in its own time 64

An incident in Gartenstrasse 66

AWAKENING

A cool encounter 69

It's gonna be a long evening ... 75

The future partners 79

HISTORY LESSONS

The Wall comes down, the path is free 83

Winning after the "Wende" 92

Sports unite the world 96

Good Wessie, bad Wessie 101
Hard but fair 105
Like in a trance 109
The rivals wake up 112
Don't fight with Müller 115
A counterattack in Magdeburg 119
Law and justice 122
The birthday bash 123

CHANGES

A new wind is blowing 127
The end of tranquil times 129
A grand old man and entrepreneur 136
Brothers in arms – or rivals? 139
Gut feelings decide 142

NEW GROUND

Temptations in Ankara 145
Juggling too many balls 149
Dreadful figures 152
Izmir – a necessary risk 154
Two generations, two different philosophies 157
Rising debts but a new head office 160
Megalights – the secret project 161
Another Warsaw Pact 166
The future is suddenly bright 170

FIRST IN CLASS

DSM – the old lady of advertising 175
The advantages of being big 178
Pride and Fate 185

SHOWTIME

- The Americans are coming 189
- Mr. Parry's plan 194
- The insiders keep silent 199
- How do you buy a company? 203
- Every coup needs a story 207
- A day that changes the world 209
- Looking for new capital 212
- The end is near 218
- The power of the banks 220
- DSM: Take two 223
- Time is running out 226
- It is hope that dies last 229
- Königsberg and the Grand Final 234
- The hour of the Cerberus 238
- As if guardian angels worked overtime 242
- The Landesbank puts the brakes on 246
- The scent of money 252
- Decision time 255

THE TIMES ARE CHANGING

- The "Poster Pope" is dead 261
- The year after 263
- Advertising on trains 268
- Cerberus again 273
- All roads lead to Ströer (railways too) 275
- The stuff they write in the papers... 285

THE BIG TEST

- ... and now the world! 289
- Let's embrace the millions 293
- A dull sense of failure 297
- Staring down the abyss 306
- The abyss? What abyss? 308

STOCK MARKET GAMES

- The lure of the parquet floor 315
- Take Off 319
- When banks are begging 322
- Other people's money 325
- In the provinces of capital 330
- Welcome to the system 333
- The stock exchange laws 337
- Again, close to the abyss 338
- A shrill "Margin Call" 346
- The vultures are circling 350

INTO THE NET

- Searching for new opportunities 357
- Udo's work and Dirk's share 361
- The right man for the battle 370
- The Internet – a new world 374
- Great cinema 378
- The future begins anew every morning 381
- Rumours around T-Online 385
- Who gets the golden egg? 388
- The art of a perfect deal 393
- "I'm in!" – this time for real 396
- More pathways to the consumer 405
- As if Ströer had wings ... 409

ALL HELL BREAKS LOOSE

- Pirates of the stock market 411
- Robbery in broad daylight 416
- The share price crashes – live on TV 418
- The investors are on board 426
- After the attack 429
- "All in" – a deal a week 433

THE FUTURE

The red button 437

Statista: The diamond you only find once in your life 440

Business principles 445

A plus for “out-of-home” 448

Coronavirus: the ultimate stress test 451

EPILOGUE

Signposts 459

Photo credit 463