

Contents

List of Graphs and Tables	ix
Preface	xi
Timeline Obama Presidency	xiii
Introduction	1
‘A New Beginning’	1
Raising Questions	22
Research Design	24
I. The Israeli-Palestinian Conflict	39
I.1. Introduction	39
I.2. Close Reading	44
I.2.1. Rhetorical Dichotomy I: War/Violence and Peace/Security	49
I.2.2. Rhetorical Dichotomy II: Rights and Responsibilities	53
I.2.3. Rhetorical Synthesis: Equal Approach	58
I.3. Historical Contextualisation	62
I.3.1. Grand Narrative I: The Holy Land and the Ancient Origins of the Conflict	70
I.3.2. Grand Narrative II: The Modern History of the Conflict ...	75
I.3.3. Grand Narrative III: The History of the Solution	82
I.4. Linguistic Contextualisation	99
I.4.1. Discursive Cluster I: A Presidential Break to Start the Peace Process	101
I.4.2. Discursive Cluster II: Pacifism as Pursuit of Peace	108
I.4.3. Discursive Cluster III: Between Reality and Ideals – Can’t Force Peace	111
I.5. Evaluation of Chapter I	117

II. The Iranian Nuclear Question	121
II.1. Introduction	121
II.2. Close Reading	125
II.2.1. Setting the Rhetorical Stage I: Mutual Interests and Respect	128
II.2.2. Setting the Rhetorical Stage II: Rights and Responsibilities ..	131
II.2.3. Rhetorical Choices: Past Antagonism vs. Moving On	135
II.3. Historical Contextualisation	140
II.3.1. Grand Narrative I: The Great Iranian Civilisation	145
II.3.2. Grand Narrative II: US-Iranian Antagonism	149
II.3.3. Grand Narrative III: Iran as Rouge Player of the 21st Century	158
II.4. Linguistic Contextualisation	169
II.4.1. Discursive Cluster I: A Presidential Break to Unfreeze Relations	170
II.4.2. Discursive Cluster II: Pacifism as Avoiding War	175
II.4.3. Discursive Cluster III: Between Reality and Ideals – Negotiating with the Enemy	179
II.5. Evaluation of Chapter II	187
Conclusion	191
Summary	191
Answering Questions	194
Back to Cairo	206
Acknowledgements	209
Primary Sources	211
Secondary Literature	225
Appendix	239
Index	245
About the Author	251