

Contents

1 Introduction: Conceptualisations of Failure and the Quest Narrative — 1

- 1.1 Conceptualising failure — 2
- 1.2 The failed quest — 13
- 1.3 Formalising the failed quest — 24
- 1.4 Methodology — 28
- 1.5 Structure — 32

2 American Exceptionalism, American Anxiety: The End of the World in Cormac McCarthy's The Road — 34

- 2.1 Pre- and post-apocalyptic America as a space of failure — 37
- 2.2 Navigating the space of failure — 48
- 2.3 The failure of the man and boy's quest — 58

3 Failing to Listen, Failing to Speak: Narrating Women's Experience in Julia Kristeva's Possessions — 62

- 3.1 Santa Varvara as a space of failure — 65
- 3.2 Navigating the space of failure — 70
- 3.3 The failure of Stephanie's quest — 79

4 Human Rights and Eurocentric Universalism: Questioning Truth and Justice in Michael Ondaatje's Anil's Ghost — 90

- 4.1 Civil War Sri Lanka as a space of failure — 95
- 4.2 Navigating the space of failure — 101
- 4.3 The failure of Anil's quest — 114

5 Dystopia, Erasure, and Waiting: Navigating Post-Revolutionary Egypt in Basma Abdel Aziz's The Queue — 119

- 5.1 Post-revolutionary Egypt as a space of failure — 125
- 5.2 Navigating the space of failure — 132
- 5.3 The failure of Yehya's quest — 143

6 Conclusion: Reconceptualising Failure — 147

Works Cited — 151

Index — 164