

Preface & Acknowledgments	V
Introduction	1
1. The Laws of Relief	11
The Problem of the Neutral Ground	13
Setting, Place, and Space in Painting and Sculpture	23
The Characteristics of Figural Space	38
Relief's Two Contexts	46
Grund and Fläche	48
Paradox	56
2. Between Two Planes	61
Contained Space	62
"Real" Space	67
Science, Sight, and Space	69
Imbricated Spaces	79
Unbounded Space	84
3. Insistent Planarity	89
Ancient and Modern Authorities	90
"One-Sidedness"	93
"Many-Sidedness"	100
The Decline of the Archaic Style	107
"Complete in Itself"	113
Fronts and Sides	117

4. Manifold Forms and Styles	131
Multiple Kinds of Space.	133
Pictorial and Sculptural.	140
Kinds of Space – Mixed, Combined, and Misunderstood	144
Manifold Spatiality as a Stylistic Mode	150
Materiality, Technique, and Style	154
5. The Differing Kinds of Pictorial Relief	165
The Debate about Pictorial Relief	167
Reliefgemälde : Heroic Subjects	172
Reliefgemälde : Pastoral Scenes	186
Reliefgemälde : The Curiously “Perspectival” Presentation of Everyday Life	194
6. The Challenge of Depicting Cohesive Space	203
Wickhoff’s Exempla	206
Painted Landscapes, Sculptural Friezes, and their Paradoxical Contexts	211
Landscape without Verisimilitude	217
“Work-arounds”	223
The Elaboration of the Implicit	229
“That Most Elementary Effect of Nature”	236
7. The Rejection of Space	249
Perspectives without Space	251
Nothing “Behind” the Foreground	260
Figures without Settings	263
The Repudiation of Place	268
Coda	279
Notes	285
Bibliography	312
List of Figure Sources	344
Index 1: General	350
Index 2: Persons	355
Index 3: Individual Monuments and Works of Art	358