

Contents

Preface — V

Introduction — 1

Chapter 1

Defining public goods and commons — 4

- 1.1 The societal/philosophical approach — 4
- 1.2 The public finance perspective — 9
- 1.3 The property rights approach — 11
- 1.4 The commons: Collective ownership and self-regulation — 14
- 1.5 Connecting public goods and commons to human wellbeing — 18
- 1.6 Public goods and the measurement of wellbeing — 21

Chapter 2

Typologies of public goods and commons — 25

- 2.1 Fully or not fully non-excludable and non-rivalrous: Pure, impure and club goods — 30
- 2.2 Collective spending — 32
- 2.3 Local – regional – global — 34
- 2.4 Intergenerational public goods — 37
- 2.5 Club goods of a specific type: The commons — 40

Chapter 3

Sources for providing public goods and commons — 42

- 3.1 Who creates benefits to society? — 42
- 3.2 The role of the public sector — 44
 - 3.2.1 Providing systemic governance for societal concerns — 45
 - 3.2.2 The example of public health — 47
 - 3.2.3 The example of public education — 51
- 3.3 The welfare state — 56
- 3.4 Externalities: Who pays for public goods usage? — 59
 - 3.4.1 Contingent valuation — 62
 - 3.4.2 Free riding — 65
 - 3.4.3 Philanthropy — 65
- 3.5 The private sector providing public goods — 67
 - 3.5.1 The contribution of private business — 68
 - 3.5.2 Corporate responsibilities: Social returns and market returns — 72
 - The triple bottom line and the multiple capitals concept — 73
 - The circular economy — 80
 - 3.5.3 The role of civil society organizations (CSOs) — 83

- 3.6 Public-private partnerships (PPPs) — 88
- 3.6.1 Models and content of PPPs — 88
 - Construction — 89
 - Water — 90
 - Health — 91
 - Education — 94
- 3.6.2 Beyond the local level — 96
- 3.6.3 Co-funding and co-production — 98

Chapter 4

Policymaking and managing — 101

- 4.1 The commonstock and the dis-appropriation argumentations — 102
- 4.2 The market failure argument — 106
- 4.3 Policies that lead out of the antagonistic public-versus-private resentment — 108
- 4.3.1 Solving the decision makers' dilemmas — 109
- 4.3.2 Convincing and non-convincing solutions — 112
 - Japan's resources policy — 112
 - "Green Deals": U.S. climate policy and the European Union's green taxonomy — 113
 - Austerity measures in the United Kingdom — 114
 - Labor market policies in Europe — 115
 - Privacy protection and policies in the European Union — 117
- 4.4 Frameworks for managing collective efforts — 121
- 4.4.1 Legal requisites — 121
- 4.4.2 Risk sharing — 122
- 4.4.3 Public consultation — 124
- 4.4.4 State participation in commons — 125
- 4.4.5 Mirroring viewpoints of practitioners on PPP management with theory — 126
- 4.5 The database — 129
- 4.5.1 Which value for which goods? — 130
- 4.5.2 Non-monetary value indicators — 133
- 4.5.3 Monetization of tangible and intangible public goods — 137
 - Resource effectiveness for the Urmia Lake Basin — 142
 - Social capital in sustainability reporting of Italian cities — 144
- 4.5.4 Public goods in public statistics — 147
- 4.6 Monitoring public goods provision — 150
- 4.6.1 Enablers and monitors global collective efforts: WTO, UNCTAD and UNHRC — 152

4.6.2	Food security: A global public good to be controlled bottom-up —	156
4.6.3	Safety for fishermen —	161
4.6.4	Standards: A means to control provision of public goods —	163
4.7	Fighting corruption and free riding —	166

Chapter 5

The global level revisited: Public goods in the SDGs — 175

5.1	Social, economic and ecological wellbeing are inseparable —	175
5.2	Societal control —	178
5.2.1	Transformation of issue spaces —	179
5.2.2	Control activities by the global non-profit sector —	180
5.2.3	Rediscovering social capital —	182

Conclusion: Businesses, individuals and state actors collaborating for public goods and human wellbeing — 186

References — 189

Index — 219