

Bin durch Kanalseelen gegangen

Seite 6

Natürlich am Meer

Seite 30

A photograph of a forest scene. In the foreground, numerous birch trees stand tall, their characteristic white bark with dark lenticels and thin, intricate branching patterns clearly visible. The ground is covered with a mix of dry brown leaves and patches of green moss or low-lying vegetation. In the background, more trees are visible, creating a sense of depth. The sky above is a bright, clear blue, providing a stark contrast to the white trunks of the birches.

Am seidenen Faden

Seite 46

Schlaglöcher im Himmel

Seite 82